Agency Description:
One Hope United provides advocacy, support and comprehensive early childhood education services to vulnerable children and families through a diverse array of prevention, intervention, and community-based programs and services.

Program Philosophy:
OHU’s early childhood program philosophy is grounded in the premise that parents, families and communities are the principal influences on the development of children. We know that parents and the family are the first and most important teachers of their children. We want to work together to help your child reach his or her fullest potential. All families need support, and our programs are specifically designed to help meet your needs. The early childhood program is dedicated to helping families raise strong and healthy children. We believe that the best way to do this is to form partnerships with parents and the families of children. These partnerships are based on mutual trust, understanding, respect and common goals.
Research has shown that most of a child’s potential for learning is established by age 6. During these early years, children need a stimulating environment that will enable them to build their own knowledge through many and varied opportunities to see, hear, smell, taste and feel. They need opportunities to explore and experiment, to question and guess, to fail and try again. Most importantly, children need a nurturing environment, where they can feel secure and can trust that they are loved and cared for. These objectives require teachers who are trained to be edu-caring professionals, to be competent in providing both education and loving care.

School Readiness

Teachers received ongoing training on utilizing the Creative Curriculum and Teaching Strategies GOLD® assessment tool. By completing ongoing observations, teachers have become more attuned to children’s individual needs and development. The Education Coordinator will continue regularly working with staff to further develop their knowledge and skills in implementing the curriculum and assessment tool in the coming year.

As a result of their program data analysis in the Spring, each teacher and home provider is aware of his/her own strengths and areas for improvement in the collection of documentation and assessment data. Following each checkpoint data analysis period, teachers and home providers have developed action plans for improvement. The majority of Center- and Home-Based staff has been, and plans to continue to be, successful in achieving their individual goals.

Teachers and home visitors continue to develop strategies for streamlining their documentation routines. Home-Based staff now use a visual checklist of objectives and share strategies to engage families in collecting observation data on their own. When successful, this is a highly valuable strategy. Strategies to engage families in the assessment of their children would be useful for center-based teachers.

Teachers showed an improved capacity to analyze their data for the Spring checkpoint period and in making comparisons to Fall and Winter. They recognized their greater ability to collect and enter data as well as to use their lesson plans intentionally to plan experiences for data collection. The teachers also shared how they had improved their teaching practices related to their ability to observe the interests of children and use those when planning curriculum experiences.
